

Are you a Systems Administrator or have System Administrators working for you?

System Administrators come in all shapes and sizes and most don't even realise that's what they are. And ALL will benefit from membership of SAGE-AU.

Do you or your staff....

- Manage or administer your IT infrastructure?
- Keep your web servers and email running?
- Look after the network or the firewall?
- Maintain your database?
- Provide IT security?
- Maintain backups?
- Provide support your staff via the IT help desk?
- Make your organisation's telephony work?
- Provide training in any of these areas?

If this is you, or fits one or more of your staff, then you and they need to JOIN the System Administrators Guild of Australia (SAGE-AU). Students are most welcome too.

SAGE-AU is a not-for-profit professional organisation that promotes the development of the system administration profession via online communication forums, regional meetings, education and professional development, and an annual national training and technical conference:

- We aim to increase interaction between professional system administrators within Australia, and internationally.
- We provide recognition to high achievers amongst our members.
- We also support systems administrators in their daily jobs via various publications and an active email discussion forum.

Our members use the considerable body of knowledge within the organisation to assist enterprise and government to make the right Information Technology decisions.

SAGE-AU members are employed in Banking and Finance; Commercial; Contracting; Defence; Education; Government; ISP; Manufacturing; Not for Profit; Recruitment; and Retail, and are in roles spanning from junior administrators to chief information officers. We have active Chapters in NSW, VIC, QLD, TAS, SA and WA.

HOW WILL JOINING SAGE-AU BENEFIT YOU?

Conference: The SAGE-AU national conference, held annually, is the premier conference for System Administrators in Australia. SAGE-AU Membership grants you significant discounts to the five days of technical and information sessions (membership fees are often offset by these discounts alone!).

Mailing lists: You will receive access to our email lists that contain a wealth of information, robust discussions and inspired wit from the diversity of talent represented by SAGE-AU members. Have a tricky problem to solve, or just need some tips? Ask our membership. Chances are that somebody on the lists has seen it before, sell it, consult for or support it, or may have even wrote it.

Website: Our members have access to more than just what you can see on the public pages. As a member, you can browse and contribute to the SAGE-AU Members' Wiki, access the special codes for sponsor and supporter offered members' discounts, access our event calendar, and much more.

Journal and Newsletters: Receive our quarterly SAGE Advice journal and monthly eNewsletters, containing content regarding everything from professional experiences to system administration issues.

Professional Development: Each of our Regional Chapters hold regular educational meetings for members. And coming soon: Continuing Professional Education and Mentoring programs.
